TROUBLE IS ANTICIPATED

Mobs Hoot and Howl at the Trainmen at Work Calling Them Scabs—Some Freight Is Handled.

South Bond, Ind., July 25.—Although a mob is gathering, the officials of the Grand Trunk railroad are determined to resume train service today at any cost.

The yard service will be the most likely to incur trouble, but the yards are filled with cars, many of which contain perishable freight, and switching is absolutely necessary.

Yards Crowded.
The crowd who were in the Grand Trunk yards was much smaller today than yesterday. Although the road was able to operate on freight trains out of the city, no interference was offered beyond cries of "Scab" at the train men in charge.

Well Guarded.

Chicago, Ill., July 25.—The Detroit passenger train came in late and carried a force of armed detectives who sat at open windows with drawn revolvers as the train passed through the yards.

The officers stood guard as the passengers alighted, but their presence was not necessary as no interference was offered.

New York, July 25.—Interest among golfers in the metropolitan district this week will center on the Subur-

Eastern Professional Golfers' association voted this year to change from medal to match play. Contestants will qualify in an eighteen-hole stroke round and then fight it out in flights of eight, according to the merits of their scores. Because nearly all the tournaments in which professionals take part are decided according to the monotonous medal play system the tournament at Garden City promises to be of more than ordinary interest.

delegates present from Utah, Idaho, Wyoming, Montana, California, Ore-proposal to remove the headquarters of the order from Denver to Portland is to be decided.

On the eve of the convention the race has narrowed down to three entries—Carnell Thompson of Ironton, secretary of state; Warren G. Harding of Marion, former lieutenant governor, and Judge O. B. Brown, a judge of the common pleas court of Dayton.

Of the three, Harding possesses the most pronounced elements of personal strength. His popularity, generally speaking, is unquestioned, and his oratory has secured him fame to every nook and corner of the state.
But, on the other hand, his open advocacy of prohibition is not to the liking of all republicans, especially those in the large cities.

CONVENTION OF G. O. P.

Which Assembles Tomorrow to Nominate State Ticket and Adopt Platform for Fall Campaign.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Columbus, O., July 25.—Representatives of republicans from all parts of Ohio are gathering here today for the state convention of the party, which will assemble tomorrow to nominate a state ticket and adopt a platform for the fall campaign. The large number of early arrivals on the field indicates a record-breaking attendance of visitors and reflects the extraordinary amount of public interest attached to the convention this year.

The importance attached to the convention in Ohio is due to two principal causes. The first is that the President of the United States, and the titular head of the party in power, comes from this state. Then, as a second reason, the republican leaders of the state recognize the necessity of defeating Judson Harmon for another term as governor in order that he may not become a formidable figure for the democratic presidential nomination in 1912. Governor Harmon has already been re-nominated and if he should be re-elected, he would undoubtedly be a strong figure at the next democratic presidential convention. If defeated, he would probably not be. The Ohio republican leaders would not like to see the presidential campaign with William H. Taft of Ohio and Judson Harmon of Ohio leading the two tickets, especially if Harmon should be made governor twice. So they are bent on accomplishing his political downfall in this.

For nearly a year the party leaders have been on the hunt for a man to defeat Harmon. During that time the names of a dozen or more republicans have been mentioned in connection with the head of the ticket and later concluded. Representative Nicholas Langworth, ex-Secretary of the Interior James R. Garfield, Judge Taylor of Cleveland and others were included in the list.

On the eve of the convention the
race has narrowed down to three entries—Carnell Thompson of Ironton, secretary of state; Warren G. Harding of Marion, former lieutenant governor, and Judge O. B. Brown, a judge of the common pleas court of Dayton.

Of the three, Harding possesses the
most pronounced elements of personal strength. His popularity, generally speaking, is unquestioned, and
his oratory has secured him fame to every nook and corner of the state.
But, on the other hand, his open advocacy of prohibition is not to the liking of all republicans, especially those in the large cities.

The chief strength of Carnell Thompson is in his home district and in his manner of picking off unattached delegates to the convention. As secretary of state he has made a good record.

The chances of Judge Brown, the third of the trio of leading candidates for the gubernatorial nomination, are today regarded as brightest of all. He is the choice of George B. Cox, the republican boss of Cincinnati, and with the combinations effected by Cox in the way of trading support for other places on the state ticket, it is believed Brown will have a lead on the first ballot.

It is thought each of the three candidates will go into the convention with close to 300 delegates of the necessary 520. In case of a deadlock the convention may sidetrack all three and name an outsider, Garfield or Langworth, ex-Governor Horlick or Judge Kinkaid of Cleveland—any one of them might receive the nomination.

The platform of the convention is regarded as of great importance, inas much as it is proposed that the form of endorsement of the national administration shall serve as a model to other states that intend to stand loyally by Mr. Taft. In fact, the Ohio platform, taken in connection with the keynote speech to be delivered tomorrow evening by Representative Nicholas Langworth, as temporary chairman of the convention, will serve as an index to the campaign to be waged throughout the country by the republicans this fall. The issues for the congressional campaign will be set forth clearly.

The platform will be progressive, based on the legislation of the last session of congress. The resolutions will embody an endorsement of the Payne-Aldrich tariff law as a step in the right direction. The tariff commission feature of the bill, by which it is proposed in the near future to put the tariff on a scientific basis of protection, gaged by the actual difference in the cost of production at home and abroad, will be brought out most prominently. On the subject of conservation the platform probably will endorse President Taft's plan as a legal way of all that was contemplated when the scheme of conservation first swept the country by storm.

WOMAN'S PAGE

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON

THE interesting suggestion has recently been promulgated by a lecturer on social conditions that if every husband and wife would dedicate twenty-four hours a week to an imitation of single blessedness there would be far fewer divorces.

There was at once much criticism of this plan on the grounds that if two people couldn't stand each other seven days in the week, they ought not to get married, but to me it seems like a decidedly desirable and hopeful plan of action.

From a little hamlet in the mountains, where I sometimes spend my summers, there is a very beautiful view. The first week of my stay there, I am in a continual state of ecstasy over it, but before the summer is past I usually have come to take it as a matter of course. If, however, I go away for a few days and then come back, the scenes of husband and wife fall from my eyes and I know once more just how fortunate I am to be able to live where I may see that beautiful view every day.

It is really quite too true to say that even the most grateful, the most appreciative people, realize their blessings more thoroughly if they have an occasional chance to miss them, so you may consider that unwise.

I think this day of single blessedness, if possible, should not only be one when the husband and wife remain apart from each other but in which each tries to meet people he does not see every day.

In one home where this plan has been put into actual practice the single blessedness day begins before breakfast. "This is my breakfast in town while his wife celebrates by sleeping at late as she chooses. When she does get up she shuts up the house, takes her embroidery or sewing and goes to the home of her mother or one of her girl friends and spends the day. Once in a while she varies this program by going in town for a 'foot,' meaning shopping, luncheon and the theatre. Her husband meanwhile dines in town with some of his bachelor friends. Both have their own latchkeys, return when they choose, and retire to separate chambers.

"And do you really enjoy the day very much?" I asked the little wife who was telling me about the experiment.

"Oh, yes," enthusiastically, "but," very much more enthusiastically, "not so much as the next day. That is the pleasant of all the week because it is such fun to see each other again and we have so much to tell each other."

When extended demand it the day must vary, of course, but it is best to have it some stated day of the week and to keep it as near an ironclad rule as possible.

So much does this plan appeal to me that it seems to me its usefulness ought to be extended even farther than just to husbands and wives. Why shouldn't every member of any family—brother, sister, father and mother—especially mother and grandfather and grandmother each have a day off—a day to wander in "fresh fields and pastures new"—a day to refresh themselves by rubbing up against unaccustomed personalities, seeing unaccustomed wall-paper and window views and hearing unaccustomed voices? Why, indeed?

BEAUTIFUL WOMAN SHOT BY JEALOUS BROKER.—CHARLES RIGDON, WHO AFTERWARD COMMITTED SUICIDE.—MRS. AMY YOUNG.

Chicago, Ill.—Mystery surrounds the shooting of Mrs. Amy Young by Charles W. Rigdon in the office of John C. Fetzor. It has now been definitely established that Mrs. Young was the wife of Alexander C. Young, a prominent lawyer, politician and editor of New York and New Jersey. He was at one time prosecuting attorney for Hoboken county, N. J. Mrs. Young separated from Mr. Young some four years ago and is thought to have been living at least part of the time with the man who tried to kill her, Charles W. Rigdon.

Mrs. Young lies at the point of death at St. Luke's hospital and may not recover.

According to her story she went to the office of Mr. Fetzor to have a last word with Mr. Rigdon. When he found out that she was to leave him forever and never see him again he pulled from his pocket a new revolver and shot her. As he stumbled through the door he turned the revolver on himself.

REJECT OFFER TO STOP PROBE. Illinois Central Directors Spurn Offer to Settle Car Suit.

Chicago, July 25.—Directors of the Illinois Central road have rejected an offer of approximately $1,000,000 in settlement of all the claims which the company has in connection with the $2,000,000 car fraud case. This information came from New York and was confirmed by those who are on the inside of the facts in the conspiracy case.

From whom the offer came and what where its details were not revealed. It was learned, however, that it was a blanket proposition, which contemplated the dismissal by the Illinois Central road of all bills filed, the cancellation of all claims both against individuals and car companies and an assurance that neither the company nor the officials of the company would take active steps to prosecute anyone criminally for connection with the conspiracy.

DENIES HE WILL LEAD "BOLT."

Bryan Says He Has Given Out No Statement on Subject.

Chillicothe, Mo., July 25.—William J. Bryan denied the story sent out from Lincoln, Neb., that he would lead a bolt from the Democratic convention in Nebraska and organize a rump convention.

"You may state," said Bryan, "that whenever there is anything to say in reference to my attitude or intentions on any subject I will say it myself, and in such a way as to leave no misunderstanding as to my meaning."

"I have given out no statement on the subject mentioned in the Lincoln dispatch."

It wasn't.

The telephone call of a suite of apartments in a ladies' boarding house is 130. One young lady, a recent comer, answered the call and was astonished to hear a man's voice inquire hurriedly, "Is this one nine o'?" When she could catch her breath, the lady who was a very proper young lady indeed, replied, "I think not. Were you ever introduced?"

OFFER $5,000 REWARD IN THE RAWN TRAGEDY

Former Chauffeur Proves Himself to Be Innocent of Crime and Is Discharged.

Chicago, July 25.—The family of Ira G. Rawn, the former president of the Monon system, is more firmly convinced that Mr. Rawn was the victim of a burglar's bullet than ever before following the release of his former chauffeur and the discovery that the "blood" spots in the vicinity of the Rawn home were nothing more than splashes of red paint.

Within an hour after the release of Ernest Stevens, the negro chauffeur arrested Friday night, they announced an offer of a reward of $5,000 for the arrest and conviction of the person or persons supposed to have broken into his home and to have fired the shot that resulted in his death.

In the midst of these developments a new theory was offered as a possible solution of the mystery, that Mr. Rawn met his death accidentally. It was pointed out by Charles L. Schaeffer, superintendent of a local detective agency, that a plausible solution was on the theory of accident.

Mr. Rawn might have slipped on the highly polished stairs or on his dressing gown, Mr. Schaeffer said, and discharged his revolver and killed himself in his haste to discover the source of the noise that had awakened him.

Members of the family did not look with favor upon this new theory.

Acting Chief Schaeffer and Captain of Detectives Wood announced that they had abandoned their hunt for a "murderer."

Chicago, July 25.—Maj. Gen. Fredrick Dent Grant, U. S. A., and Mrs. Grant left Chicago in a private car over the Erie for New York where the general goes to succeed Maj. Gen. Leonard Wood as commander of the department of the east, with headquarters at Washington.

HOMES AND ELEVATOR BURNED.

Woman Probably Fatally Hurt—Scores Imperiled by Chicago Fire.

Chicago, July 25.—Two blocks of residences—one in the Lake View district—practically are in ashes, a big elevator was destroyed with thousands of bushels of grain, one woman was probably fatally burned and the lives of a score of persons imperiled in three spectacular fires which started almost simultaneously in different parts of the city.

The blazes, which left a score of families homeless, coupled with more than sixty other fires in the 24 hours, did a damage amounting to more than $415,000.

VOTE SOLID FOR A DEAD MAN.

Texas Primaries Compliance Constant Who Was Slain by a Negro.

Belton, Tex., July 25.—As a compliment to the memory of Constable James Mitchell, who was murdered by a negro, Gentry, a negro at Belton, a solid vote was cast for the dead man for constable at the Democratic primary in his precinct.

Gentry was burned at the stake at public square Friday night and his ashes were gathered up and scattered about the streets of the town during the primary election.

Shoots Two; Surrenders.

Barbourville, Ky., July 25.—In a three-cornered affray on Richland creek, Knox county, William Williams, white, was killed and James Parrott fatally wounded. John Dolin, a stock buyer, surrendered to the authorities, and says he shot the others in self defense.

STOLE $1,140,000; IS ENTIRE SURPLUS

LOUISVILLE BANK'S LOSS LAID TO BOOKKEEPER, PART AT THAT SUM.

ACCUSED DABBLED IN STOCKS

His Shortage to Be Made Up by Stock Issue Aggregating $1,000,000—Institution's Surplus Has Been Entirely Wiped Out.

Louisville, Ky., July 25.—In a statement made by John W. Barr, president of the Fidelity Trust company, August Popko, assistant secretary and bookkeeper, is alleged to have embezzled $1,140,000, the entire surplus of the institution.

The defaulting official has been locked up for ten days unable to furnish bail in the sum of $25,000. Popko was a heavy speculator and lost large sums. It is said, on Wall street and the Chicago board of trade, the question was put to Mr. Barr: "Does this amount represent Popko's net defalcation?"

"I can only say to you," replied the president, "that the entire surplus of the company has been wiped out."

Stock Issue to Make Good Loss.

Mr. Barr's announcement was made after a special meeting of the stockholders. He said the loss will be met by an issue of stock, as announced several days ago, aggregating $1,000,000, given stockholders at par.

The Fidelity Trust company represents the wealth of Louisville and notwithstanding the serious blow there is no apprehension in financial circles over the outcome of the shortage. The stockholders already have agreed, it is understood, to subscribe the full amount of the new issue.

Popko, the central figure in the defalcation, is a German, about forty-five years old. He is a man of family, and has always stood well and enjoyed the unbounded confidence of his business associates.

Auto Was Only Luxury.

Popko lived unostentatiously and indulged in only one luxury as far as his friends know and that was an automobile. But the craze for speculation seized him and he began dabbling in stocks and grain ten years ago. He was successful. But the inevitable losses followed and he tried to recon.

One year he is reported to have made $200,000 only to lose it a month or more later. Popko has been in the employ of the bank during 28 years and it is understood the investigation into his books will cover the entire period.

One day about two weeks ago a shortage of $6,000 was accidentally discovered by one of Popko's assistants and the matter was reported to his superiors. This resulted in his arrest. He takes his jail life easy and has refused to make any statement. Experts from Chicago are at work on the books.

RUSSIA IS READY.
Russia is again prepared to enter into European politics. The most important political document which has been signed in Europe for many years is that to which the representatives of the governments of the Czar and the Mikado have just placed their signatures. Its importance lies in the fact that it is not merely that the two governments have come to terms with respect to the difficult problems which faced them in the far east, it is that the acceptance of those terms will enable Russia once more to exert her influence in the politics of Europe. Ever since the outbreak of the Russo-Japanese war, the hands of Russia in Europe have been practically tied. Even when the peace between the two nations was signed, it left political issues of no difficult extent, to keep her attention concentrated on her eastern frontier, and so to displace the balance which had previously thrown into the scale of politics in Europe.

It is, perhaps, not too much to say that, had it not been for the difference between Russia and Japan in Manchuria, the negotiations with regard to the absorption of Bosnia and Herzegovina by the Austro-Hungarian empire would have taken a different turn; and this is manifestly the opinion of the "Nieuw Prolo Presse," which declares that the true significance of the new agreement lies in the fact that "the cabinet of St. Petersburg hopes to be able to turn its attention to European affairs with greater prominence in the future."

The vital difficulty which has stood in the way of a complete agreement between the two powers has been the question of the Manchurian railways.
According to the new agreement, the working of these railways will now be shared by the two governments; who, in addition, agree to maintain the status quo in Manchuria, and in case of anything occurring to endanger this status quo to engage in joint action for the removal of the danger.
The immediate result of the agreement will probably be the annexation of Korea by Japan and the withdrawal of the large Russian army, which has been kept in Manchuria since the war, to a more central spot within the vastness of the western front.
The "Nieuw Prolo Presse," of course, a considerable accession of force to the triple-entente, with the result that the peace of Europe, as well as that of the far east, will be more completely assured. After the war between Prussia and Austria, Prince Bismarck declared that the relations between the two powers would either be much better or much more critical in the future. The same conditions have prevailed in the far east since the conclusion of peace between Russia and Japan; and just as the relations between Prussia and Austria eventually worked out into a condition of far greater harmony, so the relations between Russia and Japan seem to be on the way to working out also to a condition of greater harmony.

The powers to whom the new agreement will, perhaps, be less welcome are those which compose the triple alliance and the United States, whose interest in the Philippine Islands and the open door in China and Manchuria has been much discussed. As a matter of fact, so long as the triple alliance harbors no aggressive intentions, there is no reason whatever why the new agreement should cause any misgivings in either Berlin, Vienna or Rome.

It is true that the action of Count Aehrenthal, during the crisis in the near east, at the time of the annexation of Bosnia and Herzegovina, was not calculated to improve the relations between Vienna and St. Petersburg.
That, however, is very far from saying that the new-found freedom of the Russian forces in Manchuria will be exercised toward paying off the scores incurred at that period. Monsieur Zwolsky has, undoubtedly, immensely strengthened the position of Russia through the ability with which he has brought about the present understanding, but that the re-annexation by Russia of her position in Europe will lead to anything but the strengthening of the prospects of peace in Europe, there is no reason to fear.

REAL LIVE ISSUE.
Even on his vacation tour through Maine the President found it both convenient and pleasant to grant an interview to H. C. Emery, chairman of the tariff board, that the latter may inform him with regard to the result of his tariff inquiries abroad.
Chairman Emery has been studying the tariff situation in Germany. Later in the summer, it is said, the President hopes to have the entire tariff board meet in Beverly, and the dispatches add that he is enthusiastic about the work it is doing and the principle it gives of putting the tariff for the first time on a sound business basis.

The President's deep interest in this matter is justifiable, even on the ground of political expediency. An effort is being made at present, and a strong one, to drag the tariff into the coming campaign. The tariff has ceased to be a partisan issue. Republicans who are immovably and conspicuously opposed to certain protective schedules are deep set in their determination to maintain the high protective character of other schedules. This is equally true of democrats. Moreover, sections of the country which clamor loudest for protection of their local industries are often most pronounced in their opposition to duties calculated to afford protection to industries in other sections. Inconsistency and apparent insincerity mark the course of regulars and insurgents alike with reference to the tariff. Much that we hear on the tariff from the standpatners and the revolutionists is hypocritical.

Nobody realizes this more clearly than the present chief magistrate. If up to that time he lacked any information on this phase of the subject he became fully possessed of it when striving to force "revision downward" through the extra session of the present congress, and nobody sees more clearly than he that it will be a blessing to the nation when the tariff question is removed from the domain of politics, and that the way to remove it is to advance the permanent non-partisan tariff commission idea.

The baneful effects of tariff agitation through the coming campaign may be removed or, at least, greatly minimized, by making the establishment of a permanent tariff commission one of its leading issues. The very fact that the republican party stands for this method of reforming the tariff system, as against the continuance of the present vicious and managing one, will give confidence to business men and stability to trade, both of which are needed even now.

Dumping garbage in vacant lots in resident districts is one of the surest ways of breeding typhoid fever germs.
The same is true of the alleys down town and the health officer should see the practice is stopped before it is too late.

Funny how one day the dispatches from Nicaragua tell of the victory of the revolutionists and the next day repeat the story from the government side showing how the revolutionists have been badly beaten.

Heart to Heart Talks.

By EDWIN A. NYE.

THE LAW OF SEEING.
I once knew a man who thought the world was beautiful and believed that people were good. He was always seeing the bright side of things.
The man was companionable and likeable and popular.

Then he was deceived by one or two persons in whom he had believed.
He was disillusioned and logically came to the conclusion that all men are bad and all women false. He became cynical. The world no longer appears beautiful. His standing sneer at humanity is that every man and woman has a price. He is unappropriate, crabbed and unpopular.

Why the change?
Simply this—the man has changed his viewpoint.
The world has not changed, nor the people. His angle of vision is different. He sees only the seamy side of things. What he sees is what he is looking for, and he finds what he wants to see. And what he sees makes him what he is.

And this man thinks himself super-wise. He has found the world out!
Cynic and pessimist that he is, he has overlooked the law of seeing, which is—

You see what you want to see. What you see transforms you into what you are. And, in turn, what you are determines what you see.

You cannot see what is not in you to see. If you are unbecomingly in your inner self you cannot see the beauties of nature or of a great picture or of human nature.

The ability to see is not in nature nor the picture nor in humanity, but in yourself.
Therefore the cynical point of view is wrong, and there is no wisdom in the cynic's philosophy.

It requires discernment and the right angle of vision to discover the good that is in people and things. And the optimist is wiser than the cynic because the optimist sees the things that are worth while.

The cynic does not see things as they are. His vision is warped. The generous sort of criticism is that sort where the critic discovers and appreciates the good. He knows the evil, but is not influenced by it.

Look for beauty and goodness and you will find them, and they will make you beautiful and good; look for ugliness and evil and you will find them, and they will make you evil and ugly.

EDGERTON LIQUOR DEALERS ON CARPET

Stricker Brothers Charged With Violating Law By Selling Beer to Wife of Blacklisted Man

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Edgerton, Wis., July 25.—Stricker Brothers, the local saloon keepers, have been brought before Justice North charged with selling 40 cases of beer to Mrs. Wm. Klomenecker whose husband is on the blacklist. This is in violation of Sec. 8 of Ordinance 80 of the city of Edgerton, regarding the sale of intoxicating liquors in Edgerton.

Defendants pleaded guilty, but because of the gravity of the offense, the court directed that they withdraw the plea of guilty in order that the plea of defense might be entered.
The court then set aside the plea of guilty and they entered a plea of not guilty and they consulted an attorney.
The defendants in accordance with these instructions entered a plea of not guilty and, upon agreement of the defendants and J. E. Gettle who appeared for the city of Edgerton, the case was adjourned until July 26th, 1910, at 10 o'clock.

The Game.

Edgerton and Stoughton baseball teams played a very close game at Stoughton yesterday resulting in the score of 1 to 1. The batteries for Edgerton were Moon and Hallett and for Stoughton, Pasiek and Hanson.
Edgerton got its only run in the 4th in a walk and overtook to second.
The rivalry between these teams is very keen and the game nearly broke up in a riot in the 8th inning when Stam Anderson, the Stoughton manager, came out upon the field to give his view. He took up so much time with his lengthy discourse that the game was stopped at that time so that the Edgerton team could get the train.

Mr. and Mrs. Coughley and two children who have been visiting at the home of Harry Ash have returned to Milwaukee.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Conter of Huron, S. D., have been visiting at the home of F. Lyon.

Facts From Ford NUMBER FIVE

SERIES CONSISTS OF NINE. NO. SIX WEDNESDAY
It is a mistake to consider a light car as being suitable for heavy loads. A traction engine needs a mighty smooth road, yet a traction engine is nothing more than a heavy weight automobile. Over any and all kinds of roads the Model "T" will run more miles, more days, more years than any heavier car, manufactured—and it is the lightest of them all. A Model "T" Ford, a duplicate of the Ford car for 1910, won the New York to Seattle Race, the hardest, toughest, most grueling contest ever run, beating from start to finish all the high-priced, high-powered, heavy-weight competitors. Light weight was very largely responsible for that. "Winning the Transcontental" will be mailed upon request.

TERM IN PRISON FOR JOHN BALFE

GUILTY OF ATTEMPTED CRIMINAL ASSAULT.

BROKE INTO BABCOCK HOME

On Race Street Saturday Night and Choked Woman When She Tried to Scream—Swift Retribution.

In municipal court this morning John Balfe, age 30, employed as a member of a section gang on one of the railroads, and residing with his wife and little son in half of a double house on Race street, not far from the Franklin street intersection, entered a plea of guilty in a charge of attempted criminal assault on the person of Mrs. Mary Babcock, occupant of the other portion of the dwelling place and widow of the man who committed suicide on December 21, last, after a sensational attempt upon the life of Jack Kennedy.

According to the accounts, Balfe, upon returning home at a late hour and being under the influence of liquor, forced a bolted door leading into Mrs. Babcock's apartments and after making his way to her bedroom entreaty her attempts to scream by choking her nearly to insensibility. He then denied that he then threatened to kill her if she made any noise or if she ever told anyone anything about what was transpiring, but the laughter of the character of the attack. Realizing her helplessness, Mrs. Babcock resorted to strategy. She promised that she would make no outcry nor attempt to escape if he would go to the kitchen and get her a glass of water. The intruder at first demurred but was finally persuaded to do this by her assurances that she was too unmoved by fright to accompany him further.

Once he was outside the room, Mrs. Babcock sprang up and bolted the bedroom door and then, from her window she called loudly for help. The night watchman at the railroad crossing near by heard her cry and came running to the scene. While Balfe, in a rage, was attempting to break down the bedroom door, a telephone message was sent to the police station and Officers Dorn and Hallen arrived on the scene just in time to nab Balfe as he was leaving the house.

Judge Pfeiffer was anxious that Balfe should have a trial if there was any possible doubt of his guilt but the prisoner this morning insisted upon entering a plea of guilty and made a clean breast of everything, only denying that he had threatened to wreak vengeance upon Mrs. Babcock for letting the world know of his attempted crime and stating that she was a good woman and that he blamed her for nothing she had done and treasured no animosity against her. Balfe's crippled wife and little child were in the court room with him and the wife, with tears streaming from her eyes, made a pitiful appeal to Judge Pfeiffer to be as lenient as possible with her husband. She had consoled him to blood guilt, knowing that he was guilty. He had been drinking hard for two or three weeks past and she did not believe he was entirely responsible for his acts.

Asked if he had any statements to make before sentence should be pronounced, Balfe said: "Make it as easy as you can. I'm sorry I did such a thing."

"Your wife says that you had been drinking," suggested the court.

"Yes, I had been drinking quite a little since I took my last job on the road. But I've drunk my last drink." The prisoner made other statements from which inference was to be drawn that he had been drinking to stay him up against the rigors of a harder sort of toll than he had been accustomed to.

Judge Pfeiffer said that on account of the family the court was disposed to be lenient. The penalty for this crime is from 1 to 10 years in the penitentiary and Balfe was committed for a year and a half. He thanked the court for making it no longer.

WEIGHTY MATTERS BEFORE CITY DADS

Several Important Questions Will Come Up for Consideration at Regular Meeting Tonight.

Questions concerned with the renewal of the city's lighting contract with the Janesville Electric company; modifications of the ordinance relating to electric wiring and installation to conform with the recommendations of the underwriters' inspector; the matter of submitting the proposition of a new Fourth avenue bridge to the voters for a decision; and the possible appointment of a new member of the fire and police commission to take the place of Claude J. Hendricks, resigned, are likely to come before the common council for consideration at the regular meeting this evening. There will also, in all probability, be some discussion of the feasibility of continuing the city's proceedings against the New Gas Light company before the state railroad commission. The case is in abeyance pending a decision by the commission as to whether or not the recent voluntary reductions in rates by the company were sufficient to warrant the withdrawal of the city's complaint. Mayor Carlo, at a previous meeting, inclined to the opinion that it would not be good policy, even if permissible, for the common council to order a new bridge at Fourth avenue without first submitting the question to the voters for a decision.

E. E. Williams' application for a license to run a saloon at 500 West Milwaukee street, and Ole Sornom's petition for a similar permit for 21 North Academy street, together with the bonds of the applicants, will come up for consideration. Likewise the bonds of Julius Bellach, Louis Cohen, and William Minneapolis, junk dealer. A report of the stone crusher will also be submitted.

FORTY YEARS AGO

Janesville Daily Gazette, July 25, 1870.—The races on Saturday.—The second and last day's races which came off at the Driving Park on Saturday afternoon, was attended by but few spectators, among whom were May, G. M. Randall and six Indians of the Sioux nation. Although the extraordinary time made the day prove to be the favorite, a great many could not hold out in this race, a dash of a mile and a half. Late in the afternoon the field got off, consisting of Doolittle, Law, Wallace, Killy Stacey, and Twenty Cents. Doolittle took the lead and kept it the entire distance, coming home in 2:41 1/2. Twenty Cents ten lengths behind, Wallace and Stacey coming in together but some distance in the rear. We understand that Doolittle was sold Saturday evening for the handsome sum of $1500. The trotting race was easily won by the Hoover Dam mare Capitola, in three straight heats—time, 2:48 1/2, 2:47 1/2, 2:47 1/2, her competitors being

Fish That Carry Candles.
Some of the fish found at a depth of about ten thousand feet by a German deep-sea expedition, resembled the fossil species in the rocks of the Mesozoic era, when the earth's atmosphere was dense with carbon. There fish in many cases had special means of collecting light. Some possessed enormous eyes occupying nearly the whole side of the head and some were supplied with telephoto organs. Others carried their light on their heads in a manner similar to that of the glow worm.

RAPS STEEL AND OIL "KINGS"
Senator Cummins Scores Rockefeller and Carnegie at Chautauqua.
Cottonwood Falls, Kan., July 25.—Senator Albert B. Cummins of Iowa spoke at the Chautauqua chautauqua here. The senator delivered a sermon on "Justice." He attacked the steel and the oil trusts and particularly played John D. Rockefeller and Andrew Carnegie.
"Both of these gigantic financiers are exponents of grave injustice to this country," he declared. "The millions of dollars which they give the public for the building of libraries and educational institutions are nothing more than returning a part of their great profits to the American people by way of atonement. However, that sort of atonement will never expiate the wrongs that they have done in the fields of industry."
The senator avoided politics until near the close of his address, when he paid a glowing tribute to Senator Joseph L. Bristow.
"A braver and truer man to his policies than Bristow has never been seen on the senate floor," said Senator Cummins.

Boston, July 25.—A claim for damages will be filed through a Boston attorney by Michael Thilthwork, a laborer, against Robert Taft, son of the president, for damages caused by Robert Taft's automobile, which ran over him in Philadelphia June 27. Mr. Taft was accompanied by Lindell King of Minneapolis and George Harrison of Washington, a Yale classmate, when Thilthwork stepped into the street in front of the automobile and was thrown a considerable distance. He was sent to the Beverly (Mass.) hospital. President Taft summoned one of the best surgeons in Boston, who has attended him ever since, and it was due to his skill that the injured man's life was saved. The president has called upon him personally several times and he has had the best of care.

Hocking Pool Crash Victims Charge Speculator Plotted Ruin.
New York, July 25.—Lawyers for the bankrupt stock exchange house of Lathrop, Perkins & Co., which went down last January in the collapse of the Columbus and Hocking Coal and Iron pool, made public the fact that papers had been filed in the county clerk's office bringing suit against James H. Keene, the millionaire horseman and speculator, for alleged conspiracy with Popper and Sternbach, his brokers, to ruin the plaintiffs financially. The complaint charges that Keene sold out the pool, of which he was manager, without the knowledge of those who had gone into it, and that his brokers aided him.

Tall Building for Uess.
The tall building idea is found to be successful with bees as with city folk. Many beekeepers claim that bees swarm because they have not enough room for their work. Swarming is the basis of the beginner in the industry. It will be found that a colony can be started out with a single story hive. As the season advances a second story can be added. Then a third and on until the capacity of the hive will be about 20 pounds. This method has been tried with success by beekeepers of experience.

DAILY DIET AND HEALTH HINTS
By DR. T. J. ALLEN Food Specialist
FOR THE IRRITABLE CHILD.
"This child is very irritable and will not eat like the ordinary child; so I give her a place of cake, or a bit of meat or a piece of pie, or whatever she will eat," and whenever, probably, I overheard the remark in a street car, and thought of the thousands of children that are suffering in the same way. Such a system (?) of feeding will make any child irritable. It has not inherited a large degree of irritability as the result of improper feeding or bad mental conditions. Let the child play as much as possible outdoors; don't bring it in to the table at meal time, but before, with another child, if possible. Give only stale whole wheat bread (which may be impossible to get without buying wheat and grinding in a kitchen mill) with fresh artificial buttermilk made from whole milk with double cream sweetened with a little honey or maple sugar. Break the bread into small pieces and stir in milk without soaking soft. Give nothing else but an apple or an orange within two hours of meal, and have reasonable patience to wait for radical improvement, which may certainly be looked for. Don't be afraid of the child's suffering from hunger, but don't forget the fresh air and exercise with opportunity for play. Give only a little drink after eating, if called for, and encourage drinking between meals, water only.

The Girl and the Bill

RAY WALTERS

Orme jumped up, holding his pocket book and his hat, he darted after his assailant. At the street entrance to the tunnel, he looked quickly in both directions, but his men were not in sight.

Pursuit was futile. Slowly he turned back. He thought of notifying the police, but after all, he was none the worse off—except for his promise to Portol and Alcantara, now involuntarily broken. He must explain to them as best he could. The marked bill had been of no consequence to him except as a focus of adventure. And he had had about as much adventure as he could expect for one evening.

But the secret of the bill still tantalized him. Blindfolded, he had played in a game at which the others saw. It seemed unfair—as if he had some right to know the meaning of all these mysterious incidents. Why had Portol wanted the bill so badly? Why had the desire to possess it driven the two Japanese to such extreme measures?

Orme crossed the court and entered the lobby. The clerk looked at him curiously.

"Mr. Orme," he said, "there is a young lady in the reception room, waiting to see you." made Mr. Portol stand back at the other side of the corridor so that he couldn't hear us talk.

"I asked the man what he had done with the papers. He insisted that he had seen none. Then I promised to have him freed, if he would only return them. He looked meditatively over my shoulders and after a moment declined the offer, again insisting that he didn't understand what I was talking about. I took the other things, miss," he said, "and I suppose I'll get time for it. But so help me, I didn't see no papers."

The girl paused and looked at Orme. "This seems like waiting minutes when we might be searching."

Orme was pleased to hear the "we."

"Well," she went on, "I know that the man was not telling the truth. He was too hesitant to be convincing. So I began to promise him money. At every offer he looked past my shoulder and then repeated his denial. The last time he raised his eyes I had an intuition that something was going on behind me. I turned quickly. There stood Mr. Portol, extending his fingers in the air and forming his mouth silently into words. He was raising my bile!"

"It flashed upon me that the papers would be of immense value to Mr. Portol—for certain reasons. If only I had thought of it before! I spoke to him sharply and told him to go out. It always seemed natural to order him about, like a little dog."

"However, little dogs have the sharpest teeth," remarked Orme.

"That is true," he replied that he couldn't think of leaving me alone in such a place. So there was nothing for me to do except to go. I would have to return later without Mr. Portol. "Come along," I said. "My errand is done."

"Mr. Portol smiled at me in a way I didn't like. The burglar, meantime, had gone to a little table at the back of his cell. There was an ink bottle there and he seemed to be writing. Looking into the cell, Mr. Portol said: "The poor fellow has very unpleasant quarters. Then he said to Walsh: "Can't we do something to make your enforced stay here more comfortable, my dear sir?"

Orme smiled at the unconscious mimicry of her accent.

"Walsh came back to the grating. He held in his hand a five-dollar bill—the one that had made so much trouble. It had been smuggled in to him in some way. "You might get me some 'loney,'" he said, thrusting the bill through the bars and grinning.

"Now I understood what was going on. I reached for the bill, as though it were intended for me, but Mr. Portol was quicker. He snatched the bill and put it in his pocket.

"I didn't know what to do. But suddenly Mr. Portol seemed to be frightened. Perhaps he thought that I might have known that there were reasons why I couldn't. He gave me a piteous look and rushed out of the corridor. Afterward I learned that he told the guard I had sent him on an errand.

"Well," she sighed—"of course, I followed, after a last glance at Walsh, who was peering through the grating with a look of evil amusement. He must have been well paid, that burglar. But then," she mused, "they could afford it—yes, they could well afford it."

"When I got to the street, Portol was just disappearing in my car. I can only think that he had lost his head very completely, for he didn't need to take the car. He could have mixed with the street crowd and gone afoot to the hotel where—"

"Alcantara!"

"Yes, Mr. Alcantara—where he was stopping, and have waited there. But Mr. Alcantara was playing golf at Wheaton, and Mr. Portol seems to have thought that he must go straight to him. He cannot escape from being spectacular, you see.

MORE PINKHAM CURES

Added to the Long List due to This Famous Remedy.

Oronogo, Mo.—"I was simply a nervous wreck. I could not walk across the floor without my heart fluttering and I could not sleep. Every month I had such a bearing down sensation, as if the lower parts would fall out. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done my nerves a great deal of good and has relieved the bearing down. I recommended it to some friends and two of them have been greatly benefited by it."—Mrs. MAX MCKNIGHT, Oronogo, Mo.

Another Grateful Woman.
St. Louis, Mo.—"I was bothered terribly with a female weakness and had backache, bearing down pains and pains in lower parts. I began taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound regularly and used the Sanguine Wash and now I have no more troubles that way."—Mrs. A. H. HENZON, 6722 Present Ave., St. Louis, Mo.

Because your case is a difficult one, doctors having done you no good, do not continue to suffer without giving Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial. It surely has cured many cases of female ill, such as inflammation, ulceration, displacements, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing-down feeling, indigestion, dizziness, and nervous prostration. It costs but a trifle to try it, and the results are worth millions to many suffering women.

Taft's Right Ankle Sprained in Climb

MEETS WITH PAINFUL BUT NOT SERIOUS INJURY IN GOLF GAME.

HAS DECIDEDLY BUSY DAY

President and Party Leave Bar Harbor for Cruises in Penobscot and Casco Bays—Return to Beverly Will Be Begun Wednesday.

Bar Harbor, Me., July 25.—President Taft and his party left here last night for a cruise on the Mayflower in Penobscot and Casco bays. On Wednesday the trip back to Beverly will be begun.

President Sprains Ankle.
The president hurt his ankle while he was playing golf on the links of the Kado Valley club at Bar Harbor. Despite the excruciating pain which was evidenced by a decided limp and facial grimaces each time he had to climb in or out of an automobile or train, the president carried out the exacting program which had been arranged for him. It included a speech, an automobile ride, and luncheon in Bangor, and a speech and reception at Ellsworth.

The president was climbing a steep grassy slope leading to one of the greens when his right foot turned beneath him. There was some pain at the time, but Mr. Taft thought nothing of it and continued his game. Later, however, he suffered considerable pain.

Surgeon Grayson of the Mayflower dressed the injured ankle and made a thorough examination. He declared there was no general sprain, but a bad strain of some of the tendons.

Sleeps at the Pines.
After a night's solid rest at "The Pines," Senator Hale's home, the president said he was feeling much better in every way and his ankle was much improved.

This morning the president was entertained at luncheon at Camden by Mrs. Chaffield of Cincinnati. The remainder of the day the Mayflower cruised about Islesboro.

On Tuesday the president will go into Rockland for a brief speech and a drive about the city.

Comments Maine Political Plan.

Both at Bangor and at Ellsworth Mr. Taft commended the political sagacity that has been shown by Maine in the past in selecting good men as senators and representatives and then keeping them continuously in office until their influence and power became nationwide.

The president said that his visit to Maine had strengthened his belief that it was a good thing to move around among the people.

LIND LEADING IN MINNESOTA.

He Will Have Majority of Delegates in Convention for Governor.

St. Paul, Minn., July 25.—Returns from the Democratic county conventions held over the state to select delegates to the state convention indicate an overwhelming sentiment for John Lind of Minneapolis, former governor, as the candidate for governor.

Out of thirty-seven counties heard from twenty-one instructed the delegates to vote for him, fifteen counties gave no instructions, and only one county instructed against him.

On the issue of county option the Democrats seem hopelessly divided. Of thirty-six counties heard from six gave positive instructions for county option, nineteen left the question open, and only eleven instructed against it.

THREE DROWN; AUTO KILLS ONE

Motoring Party Meets With Disaster in Attempting to Save Girls.

New Brunswick, N. J., July 25.—Anna and Edith Hill of Highland Park, N. J., sisters, and Gordon Silverthorne were drowned in the Raritan river here while swimming.

Four men from South Amboy were speeding to the scene of the drowning in an automobile, when the steering gear balked and the machine plunged over a high embankment and overturned.

Edward Dugan, a widower with seven children, was killed outright. The other three motorists were injured severely.

SAVE 25 FROM BURNING YACHT.

Young Men in Heroic Rescue in Chesapeake Bay Accident.

Baltimore, Md., July 25.—After vainly fighting fire, which followed an explosion on board the big gasoline yacht Wismahickon, 25 men and women, guests of A. Gilbert Longacker of Philadelphia, were compelled to leap into the Nantuxet river, an arm of Chesapeake bay. The yacht burned to the water's edge, but all the party got safely ashore. As the fire spread the young men, who could swim, seized the women and jumped overboard with them, swimming and wading to the shore, a hundred yards off.

SPOUSE SLAYS WIFE'S LAWYER.

Attorney Secures Woman's Divorce and Husband Shoots Him Down.

Los Angeles, Cal., July 25.—O. P. Widaman of this city was shot and mortally wounded at Artesia by F. M. Bell. He died soon afterward in a local hospital.

Widaman was an attorney for Bell's former wife, who secured a divorce.

SEVERE LOSS BY A BIG FIRE PREVENTED

Prompt Action of Farm Hands in Quenching Blaze in Grain Field Saved Farm Buildings.

Koshkonong, July 25.—Sparkles from a passing train set fire to grain in different places along the track last week an about 28 shocks of grain were burned on the farm of Herman Hoth. If it had not been for the threshers at the H. Miller farm who turned out to help put out the fire, Hoth's farm buildings would all have burned. Several shocks of oats were burned on the Frank Shuman farm also.
